Annex II

Expert Advisory Group methodology

The following steps were identified and followed for developing a possible scenario, assessing its broad implications and making recommendations for progressively consolidating headquarters functions at Nairobi:

- i. Compilation of data concerning UNEP's current strategic presence network. This includes data on staffing per duty station and roles, and the identification of responsibilities of offices at each location. Data were also compiled to identify relevant trends with respect to changes in the location of the UNEP Secretariat workforce from 2005 to-date.
- ii. A review of prior studies and policies that address/have addressed UNEP's strategic presence.
- iii. A desk review of private and public sector definitions of "headquarters" and "headquarters functions".
- iv. A comparative review of selected United Nations organizations with respect to their geographic spread and the roles and functions of offices away from headquarters. Data were compiled for the following organizations: Food and Agricultural Organization (FAO), International Labour Organization (ILO), United Nations Development Organization (UNDP), United Nations Industrial Development Organization (UNIDO), World Trade Organization (WTO), and World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO). The areas covered in this review were:
 - Geographic location, functions and roles of offices away from headquarters;
 - Mandates, strategic priorities and other criteria influencing decisions concerning the number, type and geographic location of offices;
 - Rationale for any recent or on-going changes in the geographic location of offices, and identification of trends within the UN concerning concentration of staff or functions in locations away from headquarters; and
 - Identification of best practices (for example, improved cost-effectiveness of operational services) or practices to be avoided in relation to location of offices.
- v. Formulation of a definition of headquarters functions and identification of such functions currently performed at duty stations different from Nairobi.
- vi. Identification of possible options and assessment of the implications of progressively relocating such functions to Nairobi. The assessment was based on the assumptions, definition and criteria outlined below.
- vii. Formulation of a possible scenario for the consolidation of headquarters functions, with broad cost implications and indications on the key steps and requirements for its implementation.
