

Thank you Madam co-chair,

First of all we'd like to thank Kenya Government for hosting and UN secretariat and institutions for well organizing this meeting.

Vietnam has considered environmental protection as one of the three pillars for sustainable development. Recent years, we have achieved some objectives in sustainable development goals and we are now in our efforts to effectively deal with the environmental issues including national level and global level. We are suffered from environmental problems such as climate change, pollution of chemical and waste, loss of biodiversity.

Participating in multilateral environmental agreements, we are in high efforts to implement these agreements. Like other developing countries, we have also faced to shortcomings in capacity, technology and technical issues during implementation.

We appreciate the report prepared by Secretary-General in the limited time. We commit to participate in the working group and discuss on the report in order to propose for the better global environmental protection.

I thank you,
