

Excellency,

15 April 2024

On behalf of the United Nations Environment Assembly, I am pleased to transmit the ministerial declaration of the sixth session of the United Nations Environment Assembly (document UNEP/EA.6/HLS.1), held under the theme "Effective, inclusive and sustainable multilateral actions to tackle climate change, biodiversity loss and pollution", as the Environment Assembly's contribution to the General Assembly for consideration at the Summit of the Future, as requested in paragraph 20 of the ministerial declaration.

The world's ministers for the environment, gathered in Nairobi, Kenya, look forward to the Summit of the Future as an opportunity to further advance the collective environmental commitments. They urged all Member States and observer States of the United Nations, relevant non-governmental organizations, major groups and stakeholders, the United Nations Environment Programme, the secretariats of the multilateral environment agreements and other relevant international organizations to advocate for the implementation of the relevant actions set out in the declaration; ensure an ambitious outcome that will reinvigorate multilateral cooperation for environmental protection; stimulate the implementation of existing commitments; strengthen synergies and complementarities in the work and implementation of the multilateral environment agreements, within their independent and respective mandates; and decide on concrete solutions for a better tomorrow with greater effectiveness, inclusiveness and confidence.

Please accept, Excellency, the assurances of my highest consideration.

H.E Dr. Abdullah Bin Ali Al-Amri

President of the seventh session of the United Nations Environment Assembly
Chairman of the Environment Authority of Oman

H.E. Mr. Dennis Francis

President of the 78th session of the General Assembly
