CONCEPT and AGENDA

"The 2030 Agenda is our roadmap and its goals and targets are tools to get there." - UN Secretary-General, Mr. António Guterres

The UN Interagency Task Force involves 20 UN system entities, each participating at different levels of intensity within the Task Force. The one thing these otherwise very diverse UN offices share is their engagement with religious actors, and/or their awareness, and action, around religious intersections with their respective organizational strategic objectives.¹

Since 2010, the UN Interagency Task Force Members have been convening policy roundtables, workshops, seminars, and joint initiatives around key UN intergovernmental fora (CSW, CPD, HLPF, and UNGA), around religion and religious engagement, and several reports, policy outcomes and initiatives are produced as a result of these consultations².

In 2018, the UN Interagency Task Force convened the first ever United Nations Multi-Faith Advisory Council (AC). The Council is composed of the CEOs of the UN's top global faith-based partners. The AC is committed to “uphold multilateralism and international human rights through multi-faith collaboration around/for Agenda 2030”. The CEOs of the FBOs were selected according to nominations from across the UN system entities members of the UN Interagency Task Force. To date, each major faith tradition is represented on the Council.

BACKGROUND

The late and former UN Secretary-General Kofi Annan was the first to host a Millennium Peace Summit, in September 2000, in which 1,000 religious leaders were invited to stand with the United Nations. This was the largest gathering of religious leaders inside the

² See for example the oldest report in 2009 https://www.unfpa.org/sites/default/files/resource-pdf/proceedings_fbo.pdf and the flagship initiative led and managed by the UN Office for Genocide Prevention – the Plan of Action for Religious Leaders, Actors on Preventing Incitement to Violence.

United Nations since its founding. This seminal gathering was a show of this important constituencies' commitment to the first global Development goals agreed by the UN Member States: the Millennium Development Goals, or MDGs.

Mr. Annan's legacy is therefore worth 'celebrating' in the context of UN-hosted faith-related Briefings on Sustainable Development, organized by the unique Multi-Faith Advisory Council, formed and launched last year.

THE HIGH-LEVEL POLITICAL FORUM 2019 UNDER THE AUSPICES OF ECOSOC

The meeting of the high-level political forum on sustainable development in 2019 convened under the auspices of the Economic and Social Council, will be held from Tuesday, 9 July, to Thursday, 18 July 2019; including the three-day ministerial meeting of the forum from Tuesday, 16 July, to Thursday, 18 July 2019.

The theme will be "Empowering people and ensuring inclusiveness and equality". The set of goals to be reviewed in depth is the following:

- Goal 4. Ensure inclusive and equitable quality education and promote lifelong learning opportunities for all
- Goal 8. Promote sustained, inclusive and sustainable economic growth, full and productive employment and decent work for all
- Goal 10. Reduce inequality within and among countries
- Goal 13. Take urgent action to combat climate change and its impacts
- Goal 16. Promote peaceful and inclusive societies for sustainable development, provide access to justice for all and build effective, accountable and inclusive institutions at all levels
- Goal 17. Strengthen the means of implementation and revitalize the global partnership for sustainable development

RATIONALE FOR THE KOFI ANNAN BRIEFINGS

Due to the combined rising relevance of religious actors on the geopolitical scene, and the systematic engagement of many FBOs around sustainable development and humanitarian related initiatives in, around and by the UN Task Force, a larger number of NY and US-based NGOs are also attending HLPF-related initiatives. In other words, these are human, technical, cultural and political resources "walking the UN's corridors", at this time.

The purpose of the Kofi Annan Faith Briefings is:

1. To provide a dedicated and ‘regular’ space, during a key intergovernmental moment (in this case the High Level Political Forum/HLPF) capitalizing on the unique constellation of geopolitical and socio-cultural human capital, well-versed in religion and religiously related affairs, which is capable of informing, and being informed by, UN system deliberations.
2. To uphold the importance of strategic partnerships by the UN system with faith-based and faith-inspired civil society actors, around the world for specific SDGs;
3. To present and assess the diverse range of partnerships between different faith entities and between them and the UN and its member states, as a means to realising the SDG goals;
4. To thereby showcase the multi-faith civic support for multilateralism which is dedicated to the service of human rights, sustainable development and peace and security.

Format

- The Kofi Annan Briefings are organized by a committee of volunteers from among the Members of the Faith Advisory Council, which is supported administratively by the UN Task Force members.
- The Briefings would also be the once-a-year face-to-face meeting of the Advisory Council.
- Each year the Faith Advisory Council Chairs, will reach out to at least two Member States (from the North and from the South) as ‘governmental stewards’ of the Briefings.
- The Briefings would include a dinner the evening before, a full day’s meeting – including a lunch meeting 2 tea/coffee breaks in between.
- The UN Advisory Council members convene the evening before and after the Briefings.

Themes and Principles

- The Multi-Faith Advisory Council decided that the Kofi Annan Faith Briefings should take place at the times of the UN's largest intergovernmental gathering. In 2018, this took place around the UN General Assembly. In 2019, the Briefings will take place around High Level Political Forum/HLPF.
- The reason for this decision is that having a major intergovernmental UN moment (like the UN General Assembly/UNGA) gives the Advisory Council’s convening and leadership direct multi-lateral relevance, and can add legitimacy, support and endorsement for its collective work.
- The themes of the Kofi Annan Briefings are connected to the main themes of the HLPF. As with the Kofi Annan Briefings in 2018 hosted alongside the UN GA, the theme then was "Making the United Nations Relevant to All People: Global Leadership and Shared Responsibilities for Peaceful, Equitable and Sustainable Societies". Thus, the Kofi Annan Briefings also focus on: 'Making the United Nations system "more relevant" (see attached Report).

- Given the HLPF in 2019 will focus on reviewing a set of SDGs, as its main theme - which is: "Empowering people and ensuring inclusiveness and equality", the theme/title of the Kofi Annan Briefings on July 15 will be "Empowering people and ensuring inclusiveness and equality: The Role of UN and Multi Faith Collaboration".
- There are a set of principles to be adhered to throughout the preparation, hosting and reporting of these briefings:
 - All Member States, all religions and religious entities, and each individual mentioned, are respectfully referenced;
 - The key focus is not on individual NGO/FBO representation and activities, but rather on highlighting the partnership initiatives between NGOs and between FBOs and the UN system.
 - Human Rights are a cross-cutting feature of all presentations, and therein, gender equality is and women's empowerment are not overlooked or assumed.
 - Presentations shall seek to highlight the intersectionality of the diverse SDGs under review with/to the diverse partnership efforts.
 - Member States shall be invited by the Advisory Council members to cosponsor/co-convene.
 - The Faith Briefings would harvest -and celebrate - the diversity and inclusion opportunities presented by key FBO and political leaders already in NYC for the UN High Level Political Forum.
 - Invitations will also be extended to academia, policy think tanks, and human rights NGOs and Foundations based in NYC.

Thus, these Briefings provide an opportunity to:

1. Continue and build a shared UN system wide legacy of UN-FBO consultations which we have now done since 2010, at different moments (including side events at CSW, CPD, HLPF, the DUF³, PaRD, the Strategic Learning Exchanges/SLEs, the Annual Symposia on Religion and International Affairs, the Interfaith Prayer Services around HIV/AIDS, etc.). At the same time, strategically position this Annual Briefing moment to deliberately expand the attendees to include the secular communities.
2. Serve as a Forum for information, celebration, and consultation – around partnerships with FBOs directly around the work of the United Nations FOR the UN and for multilateralism; as well as also an opportunity to speak to one another with some candor and informed engagement – a gentle but real space to hold one another to our professed truths and commitments.
