From the General Secretary's Desk:

The Annual Report, 2018-19 honestly depicts in nutshell the activities carried out during the year that were possible due to our relentless endeavour in bringing the holistic development of the masses-weaker and underprivileged sections of the society. The activities encompassed a broad canvass through education, awareness, advocacy, promotion, capacity building and empowerment in line with the organisation's cherished goals and objectives.

Twenty two years have already passed since we started our noble effort in 1994 towards ameliorating the lots of the poor and deprived sections of the society with specific thrust on women, children, youths poor and needy people. Over the years we had to persistently work hard to improve the standard of living of the masses through our intervention in activity areas of health, sanitation, education, child rights, women empowerment, youth empowerment, environment protection, road safety, petroleum conservation and renewable energy, yoga & naturopathy, science and technology etc. braving all odds, for which I must acknowledge the sincere effort of our staff and volunteers. This year also they have worked vigorously to achieve the desired objectives.

As ever, in the current year, 2019-20 also we have tried to improve the conditions of target masses in our project areas for which we had to identify their basic needs and work towards achieving the target by participatory and holistic approach and in turn, kindled hopes in their lives through empowerment, awareness and promotional programmes. There were both continuing and new areas of activities, the prominent among which included the awareness programme on climate change and related issues, promotion of science technology for the youth, education and awareness on environment, Child Labour Education, training programmes on youth leadership and community development, skill training for employment promotion, programmes on road safety and awareness and conservation of energy etc.

We have arranged the activities undertaken during the reporting period chronologically and presented them in this report in readable language. However, valuable suggestions from readers are most welcome to improve our focus, potential and plan our goals more ardently for the burning issue.

Finally, I must convey my gratitude to our dignified associates like Government and Non-Government agencies, funding agencies, donor agencies, promoters, members, staffs, well-wishers and who have supported us to go ahead. Specially our great indebtedness is due to Dr. Sangram Keshari Nayak, former Principal Scientist CRRRI and other consultants and advisor of Women & Child Welfare Society for their valuable suggestions all time.

The Organisation:

Women and Child Welfare Society (WCWS), with its headquarters located in the city of Cuttack, is a not-for-profit organization working towards the overall development of deprived communities--the poor and marginalised sections of the society in the State. Working for the last two decades to ameliorate the condition of poor and deprived classes, the initiatives undertaken by the Society are specially directed to bring wellbeing for women, children, youths and general public in the broader perspective with active community participation.

Though registered on September 23, 1995 under the Societies Act, 1860, the organisation had come into being in January, 1994 with relentless efforts and active involvement of some young volunteers coming together for the socio-economic uplift of the vulnerable and weaker sections of the society, especially women, children youths and general public with the aim of improving their quality of life in a holistic manner which over the years, have encompassed activities permeating the fields of health, education, science and technology, sanitation, environmental protection, road safety, energy conservation, women empowerment, child rights, climate change, youth empowerment, self employment, awareness generation and conservation of resources consistent with the norms of sustainable development. The organisation acts as a unique resource agency which bridges the gap between public welfare schemes and the disadvantaged sections of the society.

Creating awareness among the masses on issues concerning their development, empowering the weaker sections and providing much needed fillip to them in matters directly linked to their development have been the prime efforts made by our volunteers and staff.

Mission, Vision etc

Mission:

To empower the poor, develop their potential; improve the socio-economic status of the community, reduce poverty and bring sustainable development with special emphasis on weaker and vulnerable groups of the society such as women, children, the downtrodden (SC and ST) and deprived poor.

Vision:

Public library:

Women & Child Welfare Society is having a library at the registered office at Gamhandia New Colony, Cuttack. This library is incessantly rendering remarkable services to the knowledge seekers of the locality. Total 5000 Nos. of books are available in the library. All kinds of books including legal hand books are available which are so educative in nature. Besides, monthly magazines, periodicals and daily news papers are conveniently facilitated to the readers. In addition to this, let-somebody-borrow library is running by the organization for poor students like a book bank. The organization is striving to open a child library in the succeeding days. We appeal to donate more books to strengthen the potency of the library and which will be advantageous for local people and poor beneficiaries to avail information. The Books received from Raja Ram Mohan Ray Library Foundation, Kolkata and Department of Culture, Govt. of Odisha are well documented and displayed for use

Promotion of Science Clubs:

Little Star Science Club is a sister organisation of WCWS for imparting science education in schools & colleges and organising different activities related to science awareness like energy and petroleum conservation, Climate Change, Environment Education and awareness etc. This club has been affiliated under Vigyan Prasar, Dept. of Science & Technology, Govt. of India with Regd. No. V2407053 since 2002. Eminent Scientist, Science Communicators Experts, Teachers & Science loving people have been taken interest for the noble cause organised by the Club. The spirit of science lies in the spirit of discoveries and inventions. According to experienced science teachers, the formation of science clubs is one of the most exciting and effective ways to instil scientific temperament in school children. It is through science clubs that they can truly feel the joy and adventure of scientific discovery. Therefore, to provide the students with organizational facilities that are usually necessary to carry on the science projects and related activities, WCWS has facilitated the process of forming science clubs in schools.

The above graph reveals a consistent increase in road accidents, accident related deaths and road injuries up to 2010 after which all three categories of accidents, deaths and injuries have stabilised with marginal fluctuations.

This is despite the fact that the total number of registered motor vehicles in the country grew at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 10.3 per cent between 2010 and 2017 causing the vehicle density per kilometre to increase from 28 in 2007 to 42.95 in 2017.

It may be noted from the above charts that the share of different categories of roads in the number of accidents, persons killed and injured has remained largely stable over the years, fluctuating over very small margins
